

Competition Platinum Sponsor

Advanced Robotics Foundation

The Advanced Robotics Foundation aims to contribute to the development of the advanced robotics field and the drone industry through competitions, human resource development, investigation and information provision, research and development, and related activities. Specifically, the foundation focuses on cultivating talented young people through the competition to push the boundaries of robotics technology, using the competition format as a methodology for evaluation. The foundation holds drone-related competitions regularly, and outstanding teams will be rewarded with research grants, prizes, and acclaims, while also stimulating greater development in the future. As a result, this will contribute to the development of the industries.
