

Ritecs

We are a company that develops systems with robotics-based technology.

RITECS is a group of experts in the control technology that makes up robotics, computer science for learning and image processing, communication, and data utilization, and we collaborate with experts in many fields to solve problems.

